

finops tooling advisory

the challenge

The FinOps Tooling landscape is rapidly growing and becoming increasingly complex. With hundreds of tools now on the market, it's becoming harder for organisations to know how best to support their FinOps Practice with the best tools that meet their unique needs.

The FinOps Foundation's State of FinOps findings from the previous two years suggests, organisations use an average of 4.1 cloud management tools, further adding complexity to the decision making process, trying to understand what tools can work seamlessly together is complex and challenging.

the service

Our FinOps Tooling Advisory service is designed to help organisations mature their FinOps tools and services capabilities, our independent advice allows clients to understand what their actual requirements are and what solutions best meet them.

This service helps organisations gather requirements across their personas, prioritise them and then advise independently on the best fitting tools for those requirements. Synyega have independently reviewed a large part of the FinOps tooling market against over 130 requirements, to give our team of experts the most detailed knowledge of the current FinOps Tooling landscape.

It is important to note that Synyega will never resell or receive any financial compensation from our recommended providers, it is always purely based on best fit to the organisations requirements.
