

FinOps Kickstarter

Fast track your FinOps Journey

the challenge

Many organisations are just beginning their FinOps journey and lack the capability, resources or governance needed to leverage the true power of FinOps.

Whether an organisation is new to cloud or their FinOps capability has previously been outsourced as a service as part of a wider reseller service, it is critical to understand where to start in the development of this complex practice.

While there are huge amounts of information available on FinOps and how to set up a practice, it can be hard to know where to actually start or what approach best fits your organisation.

the service

The FinOps Kickstarter service is designed to help an organisation understand the FinOps Framework. This will allow organisations to establish how their current policies and processes may fit or be adapted to encourage long term best practices and avoid the mistakes that many organisations make early on.

The service delivers workshops for key stakeholders from across your organisation, helping them to understand the impact FinOps can have, how it needs to be managed successfully and their roles in that journey. This will also include workshops on the "fundamental" capabilities which are the key pillars of focus for successful FinOps adoption.

As well as this, FinOps Certified Practitioner training is included for the core team and stakeholders involved, including 2 days of training and 12 months of access to the training materials and exam.
