Understand current capabilities & roadmap your development

the challenge

Cloud GreenOps is an emerging field within the complex world of cloud computing. As data centres surpass commercial flights in terms of greenhouse gas emissions, prioritising sustainability in cloud operations is now an imperative for many public organisations and commercial enterprises.

Yet, navigating this landscape is daunting: cloud vendor data is often opaque and outdated, lacking crucial details. Moreover, there's currently no centralised standard for organisations to adopt. This is where Synyega's GreenOps services and expertise can help your organisations.

the service

Our GreenOps Maturity Assessment has been designed to evaluate your organisation's sustainability practices in cloud operations, helping you to identify where it stands on its journey toward eco-friendly cloud management. Our maturity assessment is built upon our Cloud GreenOps Framework which helps clients accelerate their Cloud GreenOps journey.

Our assessment provides a comprehensive analysis of your organisation's current cloud operation from the perspective of various stakeholders, highlighting opportunities to reduce carbon footprint, optimise resource efficiency, and improve energy consumption. By examining areas such as governance, operational practices, and data/reporting, our GreenOps Maturity Assessment offers actionable insights and a clear roadmap for advancing sustainability goals in line with emerging best practices and regulatory expectations.
